Summer reading

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

Romulus voters will once again face the school millage issue, along with a new bond issue, in November.

Romulus School Board members voted Aug. 22 to put a $18 million bond issue on the ballot.

Money officials hope to raise with this issue will go toward adding computers to the district, according to Superintendent William Bedell.

Two different millage proposals have been defeated three times this year by voters, most recently in the August primary election. The proposals call for the transfer of funds from the debt fund to the general fund to help alleviate a $1.4 million deficit.

While the two millages are called essential to deliver the basic services, Bedell said, if passed, the bond issue will help propel Romulus schools into the 21st century.

"This bond issue is going to revolutionize education in the United States," Bedell said. "Our program will totally revolutionize education for the first time in the history of education."

Originally the estimate for school improvements, computers and other equipment, and teacher training was set at $32 million, he said, but so as not to cause a tax increase it will be trimmed to $18 million.

Bedell said, if passed, the bond issue will allow the district to supply the elementary school with computers and will help finance the construction of a swimming pool in the high school.

One of the causes for the defeat of the millages, according to Bedell, was that voters didn't understand what they will receive for their money.

Proposal A calls for a transfer of 4.5 mills from the school debt fund to the general fund for one year. Proposal B calls for the transfer of 2 mills from the debt fund to the general fund starting in the 1989-90 school year.

Residents say railroad is city safety threat

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

When an ambulance was sent for Arron Milburn, it was delayed by a train blocking the tracks.

Luckily, the Romulus Fire Department was able to dispatch a rescue squad from Milburn's side of the tracks and rescuers reached him in time.

It is for reasons like this that residents and city officials are concerned by additional construction along the railroad tracks, such as that proposed by CSX Corp.

"We are concerned about the wetlands, but for me this is a greater concern," said Judy Williams, a neighbor of Milburn.

"People are just tired of that train track," she said, which is why Williams and her husband and other area residents oppose expansion by Total Distribution, a subsidiary of CSX Corp. The company has proposed construction of a storage facility.

Trains blocking emergency equipment is also the major concern of Wilbur Koester, a member of the police and fire safety commission and a retired assistant fire chief for Romulus.

"The blockage is a bad situation to my way of thinking," he said. "For me personally, the largest concern is for emergency vehicles crossing."

The first five minutes of a fire are the most crucial, Koester said, and said it could be the same in other emergencies. While he believes in the right of the railroads to expand, he said, he does not think it should be at the expense of others in the community.

Others in Romulus are concerned with the wetlands which will be disturbed by the construction.

City officials are also opposed to the expansion. Though the DNR will decide if CSX can have a permit to build and establish wetlands elsewhere on the site, they still need permits from the county to relocate drains, and they have not applied for those yet, said Mayor Beverly MacAnally.

Community High has a new name — but the same focus

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

For every reason that a youngster can give for not attending school this fall, instructors in a new high school program can provide at least two reasons why he can successfully complete his graduation requirements.

Community High School is expecting a record enrollment of 150 students this term — half of them former students of Romulus High School and the remaining half former Belleville High School students.

The high school program, which began one and one-half years ago as Enterprise High, is beginning the 1988-89 school year with a new name, new students and essentially the same classes for students who have stopped attending regular day classes. Because the Van Buren School District does not have an alternative education program, the district has joined the Romulus program this year.

Although it may sound like an alternate program for drop-outs, Community High School Supervisor Mike Birmingham is careful to avoid the term, drop-out, which he believes is too negative.

"We talk about how far a student has progressed in school, not about when he or she stopped attending," Birmingham said. "We emphasize that it is not all over — there is a chance to return to classes and be successful."

During the past months, Birmingham and other Community High staff members have been recruiting students through phone calls and letters.

Both districts, he said, provided the names of young men and women who are no longer attending regular day classes in the two high schools.

"We've had a good response and we'll continue to take registrations through Sept. 12," Birmingham said.

The program supervisor believes the program will be successful for several reasons — the evening hours, smaller class sizes, a different setting from their former school.

"The evening program begins at 3:45 p.m. and extends through 9 p.m.," Birmingham said. "The time seems to be better for those students who have a 'night clock' and have difficulty getting up in the morning. We also are a Monday through Thursday school with no classes on Friday."

"Smaller class size and a smaller total student body seems to be helpful for those students who are overwhelmed in the regular day school. Many times students tell us that they felt insignificant in the larger setting," Birmingham said. "Finally, we are at a different location — 11401 Olive Street — and that is a site that the students do not associate with any past unsuccessful school experiences."

Birmingham said staff members have been selected for their ability to work with the youths.

"More than half of them are not regular day-time teachers. We have one teacher from Detroit and several new teachers, for example," Birmingham said.

There also is more flexibility in issuing credits at Community High School, the supervisor said. Credits can be issued for work experience and for passing an equivalency examination. In addition, fewer credits are required than in the regular high school setting.

"We have some enterprise classes in which students can make a product and keep the money they earn from it," Birmingham said. "For example, a class taught by a professional chef might decide to make pastries, then sell them and divide the profits."

At the present time, the classes are open only to those students who have already quit taking classes in their district high school or those who transfer with the recommendation of their principal.

Information is available by contacting the Romulus Community Education office at 941-0610.

Grandparents event is set

"Gone Fishin'" is the name of the third annual Wayne County Parks Department tribute to grandparents.

Set for 7 to 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 10 - Grandparent's Day is Sept. 11 - the event will take place at Newburgh Lake in the Middle Rouge Parkway (Edward Hines Drive). Cost is $2 per family.

Participants should bring their own equipment and necessary bait. Prizes will be awarded.

Humane Society seeks teachers

Officials from the Michigan Humane Society, with a branch shelter in Westland, are accepting applications from teachers interested in being an adopted teacher. The teachers will become "humane educators," officials said, and will be provided with materials about animal education.

To apply, send the teacher's name, school name, school address and zip code and grade level to: The MHS Adopt-A-Teacher, 7401 Chrysler Drive, Detroit, Mich. 48211.

The materials from the Society are geared for the second- to sixth-grade levels. First-graders might also be interested.

County jail: Westland still 2nd county choice

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

County officials are looking at all the angles before choosing a site for the new jail facility.

Ecorse is being considered as the primary location for the new Wayne County jail facility, but Westland is running a close second, according to County Executive Edward McNamara.

A final decision probably won't be reached until late November.

Officials of financially troubled Ecorse have shown support for building the jail in their neighborhood. McNamara, however, sees some flaws with building the jail in Ecorse.

The jail site must have easy access to downtown Detroit to better facilitate court appearances, McNamara said. While Ecorse is close to downtown, there are no major freeways through the city.

The second flaw with the Ecorse site is that the property being considered is owned by the city and by private individuals.

Westland, and the Eloise property, have these two problems solved.

The Eloise property is easily accessible to freeway systems. With the widening of Merriman Road nearly under way, transportation to and from downtown will be that much easier, McNamara said.

The Eloise property, once home to the county poorhouse, is also county-owned. McNamara said he has had people looking at the Eloise site and is considering the probability of renovating an existing building. The N Building, McNamara said, is large enough to suit the needs of the county.

"We have to study the issue," McNamara said. "Sometimes, it is more expensive to renovate a building than to build a new one."

Members of the Westland Economic Advisory Commission discussed such a possibility at a recent meeting.

A move to renovate an existing building, according to Joe Benyo, president of the commission, would be an attempt by the county to avoid the rezoning process.

If the county were to build a new facility on the Eloise property, rezoning would have to take place through the city council. City council members have already expressed strong opposition to the jail being located there.

If county officials, on the other hand, chose to renovate an existing building, rezoning and council approval would not be necessary.

McNamara said the city would not be able to fight a zoning issue if it came to that.

"Once the court agrees on the location, they become a dictatorial power," McNamara said.

The court could override city-council opposition.

"I understand their opposition. I know they had plans for the property," McNamara said. "This is never a popular decision, but we must build a jail in Wayne County."

Westland officials have hopes of cashing in on airport expansion, by offering the Eloise site as a commercial area. Both the city and the county would profit from the added tax base. A study is currently under way to determine the best approach for developing the property. Members of the Westland Economic Advisory Commission last week approved a resolution strongly opposing the use of the Eloise property for a county jail. A copy of the resolution will be sent to Westland Mayor Charles Griffin.

Bids will be accepted for three separate contracts related to jail construction, McNamara announced last week.

The county is in need of a planner to study the actual layout and design of the new jail, as well as the logistics. A construction manager will be hired to oversee construction, and a developer will be asked to offer bids on the actual project.

The developers may include a site as part of their bid, McNamara said. If these proposed sites make sense for the county, McNamara said they must be considered, as well.

All of the contracts are to be awarded before late November.

Lottery winnings fate is clarified

A new law specifies that if a state lottery winner dies before collecting the full amount of the prize, the remaining money will be paid directly to the surviving spouse and children, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township).

Before the new law, lottery winnings were paid to a deceased prize winner's estate, which had to go through probate court proceedings before survivors could receive the prize money.

Lottery winners checked for debts

Under a new state law, before a cash prize for a $600 or more lottery drawing will be awarded, officials from the Michigan Treasury Department will first determine if the winner owes money to the state because of fines or other judgments, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township).

If there is an outstanding debt, the state will retain some or all of the prize money to cover the amount due. The winner will receive any money remaining.

Youth program a success

The Michigan Summer Youth Training Program along with the Michigan Youth Corps employed approximately 135 youths, between the ages of 14 to 22 for 8 weeks this summer.

These youths were employed at various locations within the city of Romulus. The older participants were placed at the D.P.W., the Help Center, the sheriff's department, and the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Younger participants were placed at the Romulus Recreation Department, Coleman Center, and Birch Run Cooperative.

A unique feature of the program was the five crews staffed by school district personnel. These crews performed special tasks with approximately 10 youths per crew.

Auto theft suspect shot

A 17-year-old youth suspected in an auto theft was shot early Friday by a Wayne County sheriff's deputy at Metro Airport.

The shooting occurred when officers attempted to apprehend two Detroit men who were trying to steal a car at 5:30 a.m. from a parking deck, Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said.

The two suspects were identified as James L. Harris, 19, and Troy Williams, 17.

Harris, driver of the stolen vehicle, struck an officer when they fled. The officer was treated for minor injuries and later released.

Williams was hit by gunfire as the car sped away. The men were later caught in Inkster when the stolen auto hit another car at Michigan Avenue and Daly.

Harris was arraigned at the 34th District Court where he was charged with five counts, including assault with intent to murder. His bond was set at $50,000, but he remains in jail due to prior charges.

Williams remains at the Westland Medical Center in fair condition.

According to preliminary reports, the officers acted according to departmental procedures.

Band is in Montreux event

Since it debuted in 1980, the Stroh's Montreux Jazz Festival has grown into a musical celebration that is now a Detroit tradition.

The Romulus High School band has been selected for the second time to be a part of the festivities this year.

After submitting information about the band and a tape, it was chosen from several applicants for performance and quality to be a part of the festival.

The Romulus band will perform with such acts as the George Benson Quintet, Tito Puente and the Latin Jazz All Stars and Ahmad Jamal.

Rehabilitation center offers residents new hope

By KIM KOESTER
ANP Special Writer

A recent day camp gave victims of closed-head injuries a brighter outlook and a break from rigorous therapy.

Appletree Lane, a rehabilitation center for closed-head injury victims, hosted the week-long day camp. Closed-head injuries can be the result of automobile accidents or other traumas in which permanent damage is done to the brain. Victims of these traumas often are left with little or no mental capacity, language or motor skills.

One 14-year resident of Appletree Lane said she enjoyed everything about the camp.

"With a smile on my face," is how Virginia Klein said she accepted the camp spirit award. "I won the lion, teddy bear, and rose," she said of her prizes.

Klein appreciates the value of prizes. An avid Tiger fan, Klein said she was overwhelmed by the 1984 Tigers pennant win.

"I was so happy I cried," Klein said. "Rah, rah, rah, we better win this year."

More than 60 people participated during the week-long camp.

A different activity was planned for each day of the camp, including an Olympics Day, a country western ge-together and a picnic with families of the participants.

The camp gave everyone a much needed vacation from therapy, according to therapeutic recreation and program director Donna Bernstein.

The camp also gave participants an opportunity to visit with family members and loved ones. Jim Carroll had a chance to visit with his fiancée, Kathy, during the week.

"What I miss most is Kathy and my business," Carroll said. Carroll was an automobile electrician with his own business before the accident.

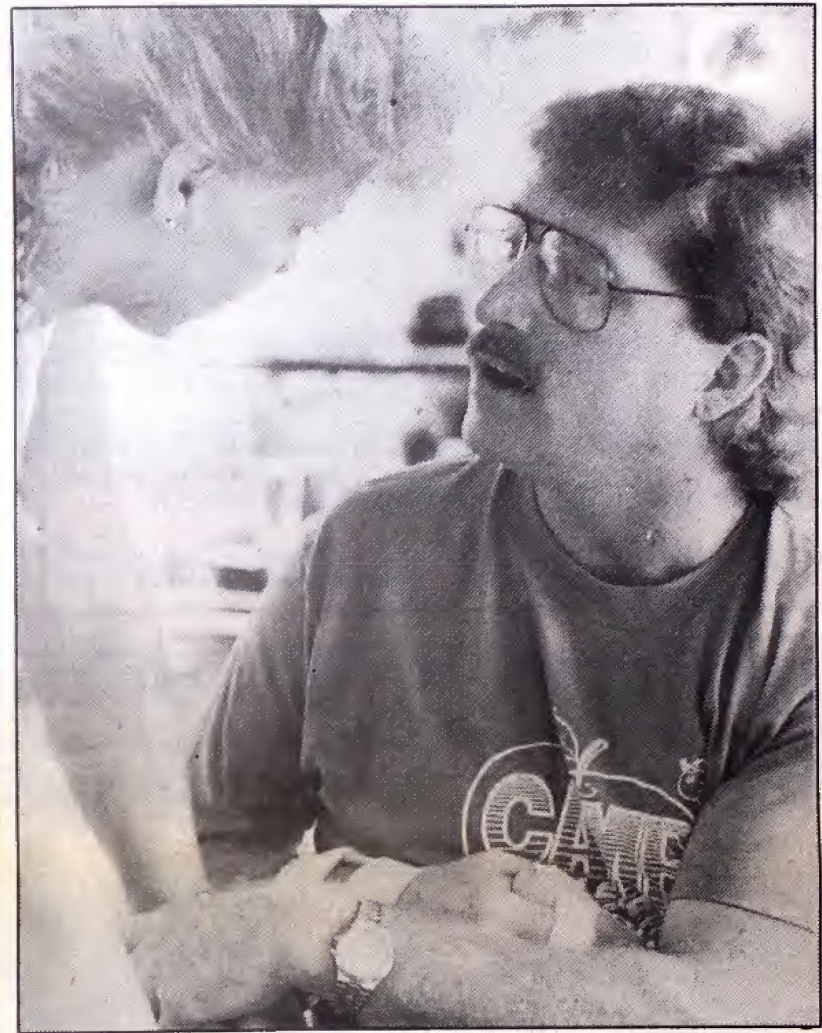

Carroll won three bears at the carnival for Kathy.

The rest from the hard work of therapy was well-deserved for the patients of Appletree Lane, but now it's back to work, at least until next year.

Residents at the Apple Tree Lane rehabilitation center, in Romulus enjoy outdoor activities as part of the programming there. Participating in a game of badminton resident Virginia Klein (from left), Ron Collamer, a one-month resident, and Julia Schuette, an occupational therapist. Also joining in on the fun were Klein (below), again, with a water pistol, and Jim Carroll (below right), who was assisted by day treatment worker Candice Silvey.

Resident nets taste of 'French life'

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Two area residents were among those who provided a glimpse into life in 18th century southeastern Michigan during Old French Town Days in Monroe.

Carl Weber of Westland and John Hutcherson of Romulus donned authentic costumes of the era and joined scores of area craftsmen, military units, canoeists and entertainers who participated in the annual late-August event at historic Helmsberg Park in Monroe.

Weber termed the event as "a kind of show and tell" where people who are interested in preserving the history of the period share their lore with visitors and other enthusiasts.

The Westland resident became interested in the event through his participation in the muzzleloader open shooting sponsored by the Western Wayne County Conservation Club. Weber joined the weekend campout for the third time this year, taking up residence in a tent adorned with furs and game skulls.

Weber said he enjoys stepping back in time and getting away from his daily routine. However, he does confess to cooking up a steak during his campouts and passing it off as "buffalo meat or muskrat or whatever folks think it is." His specialty is hot and hearty Rendezvous Coffee—brewed over a wood fire.

"Everyone wants to buy my stuff," Weber said, pointing to an array of animal skins, skulls and traps. "But, none of it is for sale. Some of the traps are collector's items, and I'm not going to sell any of it."

Hutcherson, a member of the Ottawa Longrifles, has participated in Old French Town (the former name of Monroe) Days for the nine years he has been a member of the Ottawa Longrifles. The Romulus man said he enjoys "getting away from it all" during the weekend event, but welcomes the electricity and shower back home when it's over.

One of the more dedicated participants, Hutcherson has made his 18th century frontier costume using only natural materials—cotton or linen. He also has made his tent furnishings, the rifles he uses in the shoots and the round musket balls which he fires.

Hutcherson displayed his handcrafted rifles on a blanket in front of his tent along with a piece of maple wood which he plans to fashion into another rifle.

"I cut the tree down and brought it to a sawmill to have it cut into three-inch slabs," Hutcherson said. "I'll use just a hammer, chisel and file to make the stock. Then, I'll buy the rough barrel and file and polish it. The locks will then be polished and placed in the rifle—making sure all of the parts fit and work."

Hutcherson said he does not count the hours spent in crafting a rifle. He takes pride in his work and considers it as a hobby.

"I've worked two years on one rifle," Hutcherson said. "I guess if I worked on one constantly it would take five or six weeks to complete."

In his leisure time, Hutcherson carves cups and bowls out of tree burls. When a cup is completed, he makes a hole in the ready-made handle and hands it on his belt - ready to dip a cool drink from the river or fill from the wooden barrel by his tent.

Hutcherson prepares a simple fare of smoked sausage, bread and coffee during his campouts - foods that typically would have made up the menu of the frontiersmen.

The Ottawa Longrifles, who represent the traders of the era, displayed leather work, weaving, basketmaking and bullet making. They also sponsored competitions in tomahawk and knife throwing, wax ball shooting and flint and steel fire making.

Muskrat chef extraordinaire Marvin Krueger prepared the French settlers' "delicacy" in an iron pot over an open fire.

Krueger uses recipes handed down from both of his French grandmothers to prepare the muskrats. He first trims the fat from the meat, par boils it until tender with celery, onions and seasonings and then cooks it for 45 minutes over an open fire, adding creamed corn during the last half hour of cooking.

Few people outside of Monroe County, the downriver communities and Canada eat the muskrat, Krueger said. Early settlers ate the meat simply because they were poor and had few other sources of food other than the muskrats which were plentiful in the marshlands. As time went on, he said, the people who were accustomed to eating muskrat made it part of their diet by choice.

Krueger said he, his wife and one of his youngsters are fond of muskrat, while another youngster rejects the meat.

"Most people who stop by to watch me cook are curious about the muskrat. They want to know what other meat it tastes like," Krueger said. "I can't give them an answer because it really doesn't taste like any other game. Some of them ask for a sample, but a lot of them don't want to try it."

The weekend event, sponsored by the Monroe County Historical Museum, is staged annually in August with a full schedule of activities from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

New dean is appointed for community college

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Women leaders from government, education and community agencies welcomed Dr. Paula Peinovich to her new post as executive dean of the Western Campus of Wayne County Community college on Wednesday.

Peinovich

Peinovich will take over duties formerly performed by acting Executive Dean Thomas Sullivan, who will return to his post as director of budgeting.

The new dean introduced herself as "the daughter of a teacher and the granddaughter of a teacher." She also noted that many of her aunts and great aunts also were teachers, and she "followed along in their footsteps" in choosing her career.

Peinovich graduated from St. Olaf College in Minnesota in 1966, earned a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1968 and received her doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania in 1985.

She began her teaching career as an English instructor at Wisconsin State University and also taught at Madison Area Technical College. Peinovich served as assistant professor of English and assistant dean at Spring Garden College in Philadelphia, where she was director of a women's re-entry program, and adjunct professor of English at Upsala College in New Jersey. Prior to taking her post at WCCC, she was associate dean of continuing education at Philadelphia College of Textiles and Sciences.

Peinovich told the reception guests that she has served as a labor negotiator on both sides of the table - as vice president of the American Federation of Teachers Local 23 in Madison in 1970-72 and later as an administrator.

During her administrative career Peinovich has developed a five-year strategic plan for a multi-campus community college; initiated joint agreement for academic programming with the institution, corporations and community groups; initiated a community based summer non-credit program for between 400 and 500 people, and opened a branch campus for adult learners.

She has been the recipient of the Theodore Mitchell Award and the Key Woman Award from the Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce and was twice the recipient of the Peppercorn Award, from the Philadelphia Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America.

Almost ready

With the classroom bell about to ring, students - and their parents, who fund them - flocked to area malls last week to buy paper, pencils, books and the latest fashions for fall. Students compared each other's wares and wardrobes and used such comparisons to make their own purchases. Officials at the Westland Center reported the typical back-to-school crowds last week for almost all

Enjoying Good Health

Dr. Fordyce is an allergist on the medical staff at Oakwood Hospital and maintains a private practice in Dearborn.

WHAT AIN'T ALLERGY

By James G. Fordyce, M.D.

In our day and age when people are demanding precise medical treatment, often when there is no scientific medical answer to their problem, they will turn to treatments that have not been proven effective.

Many problems are blamed on allergy, when, in fact, the cause is either unknown or not directly related to a physical problem. Allergy becomes a catch-all for the unknown, and remedies far-fetched.

One of these problems is "hyperactivity" or Attention Deficit Disorder. Hyperactive children have difficulty sitting still or concentrating, which leads to difficulty in learning and eventually, poor school performance.

Some people believe that diet may cause hyperactivity in children. However, no study has shown that food sensitivity is playing a role in this problem, and special diets have not been truly effective in helping these kids. Thorough evaluation by a physician experienced in dealing with hyperactivity is necessary to correct the problem.

Another myth is that allergies can be treated with specific foods such as bee pollen, as well as food supplements and vitamins.

Again, no one has proven these to be effective.

Some people, even doctors, believe that many symptoms, ranging from headaches to sore ankles, are caused by materials in our environment - such as foods, additives, fumes, or chemicals. While air pollution may cause some problems, it certainly doesn't cause all the problems attributed to it.

"Allergy to the 20th Century" is not a proven fact nor is it accepted by the overwhelming majority of physicians. Plastics, pesticides, perfumes, cleaning fluids, and gas, are some of the items that are erroneously ascribed to allergy.

Before individuals check out a book on allergy or seek answers on their own to a problem, the first step should be a talk with their personal physician.

Then, if there's a question that allergy is involved, they should seek the evaluation and advice of a Board Certified Allergist.

Power of politics

Western Wayne residents important to national campaigns

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Western Wayne County is expected to play a major role in deciding the outcome of the presidential race this year, according to representatives of the Dukakis and Bush campaigns in Michigan.

"We plan to run an 83-county strategy," said Scott Grigg, press secretary for Republican presidential candidate George Bush. "The bulk of the votes, however, are in southeastern Michigan. This tri-county area is pivotal to any election."

Grigg said Bush could carry Wayne County, despite the area reputation for being largely Democratic. One of the biggest election issues in Wayne County, Grigg said, will be jobs and the economy.

"In Wayne County, there are a lot of blue-collar voters wondering if they will have jobs," he explained. "Bush can point to 67 months of uninterrupted economic growth, a prime interest rate one half of what it was before Reagan took office."

The main focus of the Bush campaign will be to compare "where we are now, versus 1980," Grigg said.

A recent Detroit Free Press poll showed Bush leading Dukakis by 2 percentage points in Michigan. The current controversy about Republican running mate Sen. Dan Quayle (R-Indiana) is expected to die down and become a "non-issue," according to Grigg, who added that he did not think the controversy would have an impact on the campaign.

Although the publicity machinery has not yet kicked into high gear for the election in November, Grigg said that local endorsements for Bush may soon be announced, as well as literature drops, television ads and scheduled appearances.

One potential thorn in the side of the Bush campaign is the vice president's apparent distaste for a televised debate. Two tentative dates for a national forum between the two candidates have been nixed by Bush, who has been described by his own press manager as "not prepared to

Local Dukakis supporters are not convinced.

"How can he possibly not be prepared to debate?" asked Mark Fox, deputy director for the Dukakis campaign in Michigan. "Bush agreed to debate months ago. Two days ago, his press manager called and said the vice president wasn't prepared to debate. This is an issue of competence in leadership."

Fox said Michigan is "very important" to a Democratic victory, as evidenced by the fact that Michael Dukakis, his son John and other family members have made several public appearances in the state already.

While in Grand Rapids Aug. 25, Dukakis received the endorsement of Grand Rapids Mayor Gerald Helmholdt, a self-described nonpartisan, who "usually votes Republican."

"If we can just get out what his views are, in contrast to Bush, most voters would favor his views and plans," Fox said, referring to Dukakis. "Eight years ago, when the president took office, they promised to balance the budget. Now, the budget deficit is greater than in the history of all previous administrations combined."

Fox added that, although the Democratic ticket has not done well traditionally with blue-collar voters, the blue collar vote may shift for Dukakis, a "new breed of Democrat."

Abortion foes, fighters launch ballot campaign

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

A referendum to ban Medicaid-funded abortions is sure to attract the attention of area residents, church groups and family counselors.

A campaign last spring netted more than 200,000 signatures from individuals opposing Medicaid-funded abortions. Right to Life-Lifespan, in Wayne, was instrumental in the campaign.

The ballot issue is worded so a "no" vote means yes to Medicaid-funded abortions. A "yes" vote will be a sign of opposition.

Representatives for Peoples Campaign for Choice, a statewide organization, are mounting a campaign to mobilize the "no" vote.

Local Democratic organizations are expected to issue statements announcing their opposition, as well.

"We will probably talk about it and decide how to approach the matter," said Debbie Carman, an active member of the League of Westland Democratic Voters.

Personally, Carman said, she will cast a firm "no" vote. Carman is pro-choice and will vote that way on the referendum.

"I don't think government has the right to discriminate against those who can't afford abortions," Carman said. "Economically speaking, it costs less to fund the abortions than to put all of those children on the welfare rolls."

The referendum addresses only Medicaid-funded abortions and not abortion in general. Pro-choice advocates, however, believe approval of total ban of abortions in the future.

this referendum will mean a total ban of abortions is the next step.

Right to Life advocates hope this is the case.

"We want to eliminate all abortions," said Sue Schuman, an active member of Right to Life-Lifespan. Schuman said her organization will be campaigning heavily for approval of the referendum.

Much of the Right to Life information will be distributed through local churches. But, Schuman said, there are also many doctors, lawyers and other professional people fighting with them.

Right to Life members will attempt to educate the public on how the referendum is worded and will emphasize that this is only the first step toward banning abortions.

"This won't eliminate all abortions, but it will take tax monies away," Schuman said. "We want the money to be put into something other than the senseless destruction of human life."

Family counselors and area doctors contacted are hesitant to voice their opinions on the referendum. Many said they would rather wait until the election nears before addressing the issue.

Candidates quizzed on local interests

Congressional candidates in the November election will be polled on how they would address the needs of Michigan residents by officials from the Michigan Municipal League.

The MML is an advocacy agency for the betterment of area communities. It represents 501 member communities, including those in western Wayne County.

The nonpartisan program was initiated by the League early in 1988 to educate presidential candidates, the media and the voting public about the problems facing Michigan cities and villages.

It is being coordinated with a similar national program of the National League of Cities Institute.

The Michigan Election '88 task force co-chairs, Harper Woods Mayor James R. Haley and Muskegon Heights Councilwoman Rillastine Wilkins, said that congressional nominees will be polled on their views on key issues relating to Michigan municipalities.

Wilkins indicated that the Michigan task force has selected three priority issues, including drug-related crime, infrastructure preservation and affordable housing.

Thirty-four municipal officials statewide are assisting in the League efforts. None, however, are from western Wayne County.

SCHOOL NEWS

School's in

"No more teachers, no more books . . ." is only a memory now of the summer gone by for students in the Romulus Community School District. Students returned to the classrooms yesterday for another year of reading, writing and arithmetic. In preparation for the new year, students in all grade levels registered for classes, picked up schedules and polished their learning skills. Among those who participated in the scheduling process last week were adult education student Crystal Sharp (from left), her father, Charles, Mike Birmingham and Bill Murphy, school officials. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

FACTS, FIGURES, DATA

What follows are a list of useful pieces of information for school use.

School begins — Romulus students will attend a half-day of school Wednesday, Sept. 7. The bus schedule is effective on that day. Kindergarten students will attend school for only one hour Sept. 7. Time schedules for kindergarten students Sept. 7 are: Barth, Cory and Wick elementary schools — morning students attend from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.; afternoon students from 11 a.m. to noon. Hayti, Halecreek and Merriman elementary schools — morning students report from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m.; afternoon students from 10:15 to 11:15 a.m.

Snow closings — School officials recommend listening to WJR or WWJ on the AM radio dial for closing information due to the weather. The school-closing information network is coordinated by the Michigan State Police.

Immunizations — Students entering the schools, including kindergarten, must present proof of immunization. This includes four doses of D.P.T. (diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus), three doses of polio vaccine and one dose each of measles, rubella and mumps vaccine. The measles, rubella and mumps vaccine must have been given on or after the child's first birthday. Proof of immunization is required before the child is allowed to attend classes. These guidelines are set by the Wayne County Health Department.

Student count — Total number of students attending Romulus schools in June was 5,039. Official fourth Friday count last year was 5,215. A breakdown for each school, from the June count, includes; special preschool, 9 students; kindergarten, 381; first grade, 366; second, 324; third, 327; fourth, 320; fifth, 348; sixth, 313; elementary special education, 76; seventh, 350; eighth, 361; junior high special education, 29; ninth, 454; 10th, 328; 11th, 278, 12th, 285; senior high special education, 71.

School buses — Only students eligible to ride school buses will be transported. Bus schedules and eligibility requirements are available from the board offices.

Meal services — The policy for free and reduced-price meals and free milk in schools is set by the Wayne County Intermediate School District. The policy is followed by all schools (public and non-public), preschools, child care centers, Head Start programs and residential child care institutions in Wayne County participating in federally reimbursed child nutrition programs. These programs include the national school and lunch program, school breakfast program, special milk program, commodity school program and the child care food program.

Income guidelines are: (total household size, scale A for free meals or free milk, and scale B for reduced-price meals) 1, $7,501, $10,675; 2, $10,048, $14,301; 3, $12,597, $17,927; 4, $15,145, $21,553; 5, $17,693, $25,179; 6, $20,241, $28,805; 7, $22,789, $32,431; 8, $25,337, $36,057; each additional household member, add $2,548, add $3,626. To apply for the program or obtain more information, call the WCISD offices at 467-1481

Board of education — Kenneth E. Berlenn, president; Edward L. Wilkerson, vice president; Daniel R. Bales, secretary; Howard J. Kesner, treasurer; Mary M. King, trustee; Sandra F. Langley, trustee; Pat Patterson, trustee. School board members meet in the district administrative offices, 36540 Grant Road, Romulus, the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The meetings are open to the public and begin at 7:30 p.m.

About this page

This page marks the beginning of the Associated Newspapers special school coverage for the 1988-89 school year. Each week, we will provide readers with added features and news coverage of their local schools.

This week, we have provided a helpful reference guide to be saved throughout the school year. We hope parents and students will save this page and use it year-round for facts, figures and useful information.

Comparing the area schools

How does your school system compare to your neighbor's? We have gathered facts and figures from the area school district and compiled them in comparison form. Figures given are the most recent data available to us.

Per-pupil spending rates are calculated by adding the amount of money the school district receives in state-aid monies to the amount collected in tax levies. This rate is regulated by the state Department of Education. If local tax levies fail to produce a per-pupil spending rate at least equal to the state requirement, the district becomes an "in-formula" one and receives state aid to make up the difference.

"Out-of-formula" districts are those in which tax levies produce a per-pupil spending rate already equal to the state requirement, thus, making unnecessary any added money from the state.

Youth Corps: Survey calls jobs an 'unqualified success'

Following a survey of 1987 participants in the Michigan Youth Corps, pollster Louis Harris termed the program "an unqualified success."

The Michigan Youth Corps was established in 1983 by Gov. James Blanchard to give young, unemployed people meaningful jobs for the summer. MYC participants have worked on nature trails, cleared county drains, painted senior citizens' homes and performed numerous other duties. The corps had 15,000 workers this year and has had a total of 112,000 workers in the program since it was established. Louis Harris & Associates were commissioned, at a cost of $30,000, to monitor the permanence of the effect of the MYC experience on the lives of the participants.

"The polling firm conducted extensive interviews with 1,000 participants during the program and 718 following completion of the program. Last month the pollsters interviewed 497 participants to monitor the effect of the MYC experience on the lives of participants."

In response to questions about what they gained from their MYC experience, 98 percent gave the program a positive rating. Some 97 percent said the youth corps met their highest expectations in providing the opportunity for responsibility and 96 percent said the program met their expectations in getting work experience. The poll also revealed that 95 percent of those surveyed valued learning to work together as a team during the 1987 summer program.

The polling firm conducted extensive interviews with 1,000 participants during the program and 718 following completion of the program. Last month the pollsters interviewed 497 participants to monitor the effect of the MYC experience on the lives of participants.

Three out of four youths joined the MYC primarily to earn money, according to the poll. However, by the end of their work experience they valued self-improvement teamwork, responsibility and completing a project above getting a paycheck, the pollsters said.

According to the survey, 96 percent of those contacted through that the MYC prepared them well in knowing how to deal with fellow workers, another 96 percent praised the corps for getting them ready to cope with work rules and an equal number thought they learned how to handle a job.

The poll also revealed that 38 percent of the MYC participants surveyed were attending college or graduate school; 26 percent were working and not in school; 11 percent were seeking a full-time job and six percent were studying and working part time. Of the remaining participants surveyed five percent were not working and living at home, two percent were working full time and in school and one percent had reentered the youth corps.

Roads, litter top residents' concerns

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Roads, potholes and litter are three of the most unfavorable characteristics of Wayne County, according to results of a survey conducted by Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack (D-Wayne).

The survey was the first conducted by Mack. And although the comments were not all favorable, Mack said he was pleased with the response.

"This is the first comprehensive survey of the concerns of the residents of western Wayne County," Mack said. "I am very pleased with the level of response. It was a unique undertaking, in an effort to get feedback from citizens."

The survey, which was sent to more than 1,100 people in western Wayne County and the Downriver area, will become

The results from the survey show we have a lot more work to do in this area. This survey will serve as a benchmark. . . I will treat this as a report card for the county and a way to measure our progress.

— Milton Mack
County commissioner

an annual task for Mack.

"I think we will do this survey every year," Mack said. "It gives us a good indication of how we are doing, and we will be asking repeat questions to see if we have improved on previous concerns. I will treat this as a report card for the county and a way to measure our progress."

The communities surveyed included Wayne, Belleville, Sumpter Township, Van Buren, Romulus, Canton, New Boston, Huron, Rockwood, Flat Rock and a part of Sumpter Township. The areas are those in Mack's county commission district.

Among the significant findings was the fact that 34 percent of those surveyed felt county road conditions are acceptable, while 29 percent said road service was poor.

Pothole repair received an average score of 2.2 on a scale between 1 and 5 - 5 was best. Litter collection and roadside ditch maintenance were rated "barely acceptable."

"The results from the survey show we have a lot more work to do in this area," Mack said.

Despite their concerns on road conditions, only 6 percent of the residents surveyed would support paying a $25 license-plate fee to improve the county roads.

Another area of concern was the environmental issues, especially the question of toxic wastes.

Hospital authority attorneys eyeing response to Open Meetings Act suit

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Attorneys from the Peoples Community Hospital Authority are expected to meet soon to determine steps to be taken concerning a lawsuit filed last week against the organization, PCHA officials said last week.

The suit, filed by the Associated Newspapers, charges the PCHA with violating the Michigan Open Meetings Act during a May 26 special board meeting. A portion of that meeting, in which an affiliation agreement between PCHA and the Oakwood Health Services Corp. was approved, was closed to the public.

The Open Meetings Act is a state statute requiring that all meetings of a public body be open to the public and be conducted in a public place. All deliberations of a public body in which a quorum (majority) of members are present must also be conducted publicly, according to the act.

PCHA Chairman Donald Pizzimenti said he will meet with his attorneys to discuss any PCHA actions.

"There have been no discussions as of yet. I will be meeting with our attorneys and finding out what to do next," Pizzimenti said.

The PCHA has until Sept. 19 to respond to the suit, according to B. Ward Smith, PCHA attorney. Meanwhile, Smith said, he will research the suit and will meet with Pizzimenti and other attorneys.

"I don't know what they're (PCHA officials) going to do yet. It's too early to tell anything right now," Smith said.

"I'll do the responding when I get prepared and do my research. I just don't know now when that response will be."

Associated Newspapers Managing Editor Ray Day sent a letter to Pizzimenti June 10, protesting the closed meeting and asking that it be restaged. Under state law, a public body can resolve a noncompliance allegation by publicly restaging the meeting in question.

Pizzimenti, however, refused to restage the meeting, in a June 20 reply to Day's letter.

The Associated Newspapers is the publisher of the The Wayne Eagle, The Westland Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Inkster Ledger-Star, The Romulus Roman and The Belleville Enterprise.

Back to school

Donning brand-new fall fashions, area students returned to the classrooms yesterday for the start of the 1988-89 school year. Students in Wayne-Westland reported for a half-day of classes. Their first full day of school will be Thursday. Students in Plymouth-Canton also headed back to school yesterday, while students in the Van Buren school district heed the call of the school bell today. In Romulus, students return to the classrooms next week. Ready for the new school year yesterday were good friends Cindy Smith, 6, a first-grader, and Julie Racklyeft, 7, a second-grader. The two attend Hoover Elementary, in Wayne, and ride the school bus to get there. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

"It appears that citizens in this area are environmentally conscious," Mack said. "I was impressed with the overwhelming willingness of people to recycle, as well as the awareness of the shortage of landfill space," Mack said.

In the survey, more than 77 percent felt solid-waste landfills were hazardous. Residents in all nine communities surveyed felt that landfill space was becoming critically scarce and that a reduction of waste volume is needed.

More than 72 percent agreed that incineration was an acceptable alternative to landfills, and 88 percent said they would be willing to separate their waste in order to recycle it.

No residents, however, wanted a landfill for a neighbor, although Canton Township residents were the least opposed to a landfill being located there.

Canton residents were also firmly against an incinerator in the township.

Another issue of concern to county officials is the lack of jail space and possible solutions.

More than 56 percent of those surveyed said they were opposed to an added millage to finance a new jail.

The survey was conducted in early 1988, before the Aug. 2 primary election. In the primary, Wayne County voters approved the 1-mill tax hike to fund jail construction.

Of those surveyed, 57 percent felt the county should contract with private developers to provide jail space for people convicted of misdemeanors.

Survey results

What follows is a breakdown of some of county Commission Milton Mack's survey results.

- Condition of county compared to 1983 (when charter was rewritten) - improved, 25 percent; no change, 56 percent; worse, 19 percent
- Rating of county road resurfacing and construction - very good, 3 percent; good, 17 percent; acceptable, 35 percent; poor, 31 percent; unacceptable, 14 percent
- Are you satisfied with county services? Roads - yes, 14 percent; no, 22 percent; Public works - yes, 30 percent; no, 48 percent; Parks - yes, 41 percent; no, 20 percent; Airports - yes, 64 percent; no, 25 percent; Courts - yes, 57 percent; no, 49 percent

Guns and schools must not be mixed

It was clearly a horror story for "show and tell." It was a case of guns in the schools. The first case of its kind.

How school administrators handled the event would be precedent-setting. And thank God for the wisdom of these particular school officials.

The case was in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools earlier this month, in which two Franklin Junior High School students were reported to have brought and hid a .22-caliber pistol in their school locker. School officials learned of the handgun, searched the locker, seized the gun and recommended that the students be expelled.

School board members heeded the recommendation and voted to expel the two from the district. The decision was met by sharp criticism and controversy by the students' parents and officials from the NAACP, who felt that the students should have been transferred to another school in the district.

They, apparently, felt expulsion was too harsh for the crime committed.

The facts in this case have not been disputed. The parents of the two students asked that the disciplinary hearing, in which expulsion was considered, be open to the public. They, apparently, wanted the matter to become a public controversy.

What these parents - and those who are criticizing the move to expel the students - fail to see is the clear danger in students making handguns an integral part of their scholastic wardrobe. They fail to see the potential for senseless injuries or loss of lives because of these guns, and they fail to see how important it is for school administrators to send a very clear message to all in the community that guns in schools will not be tolerated. Not today. Not ever.

Schools Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said the only way to send a message to 18,000 students in the district is to show them that guns in schools will not be tolerated. Students who even attempt to bring a gun to school will be expelled.

We firmly endorse such an idea and hope all within the district understand it.

This editorial is not one to debate the issue of freedom to bear arms, freedom to own a handgun or the need for a personal gun in a violent 1980s society. However, this is a plea to all parents to educate their children on the grave danger guns pose to each other and everyone around them.

Students in our schools have no right to endanger the lives of other children - your children, our children. Students in our schools have no right to disrupt the educational process we are funding.

Students in our schools have no right to carry a gun. Expulsion is the only logical punishment for such an action.

Today, we laud Wayne-Westland school board members for a fine decision made on behalf of our children. We also hope this message will be heard loud and clear by all other students in the district.

We question the wisdom of those who feel the two expelled students were treated unjustly. We have to wonder whose rules of justice they are observing.

The facts are quite simple: guns and our schools do not mix. They never will. The tragic deaths of more than 30 Detroit students prove that to us.

Expulsion is not a question of fairness to these two students. It is a matter of safety and common sense for all other students.

We wish her success

We join the staff and students at the Western Campus of Wayne County Community College in welcoming the new executive dean, Dr. Paula Peinovich, and bidding a farewell to Thomas Sullivan who served as acting dean prior to Peinovich's appointment.

The new executive dean comes to western Wayne County with a wealth of experience in community college administration and has brought with her a long list of projects that she plans to implement. We look forward to her plans to promote programs to aid small businesses, women and minorities as well as serve the student body and community at large.

With a county-wide student population which is 60 percent female, it is timely that the college has chosen a woman to head its Western Campus - more importantly, a woman who possesses excellent experience and credentials to lead the campus in its educational mission.

Residents opposed to new development

This letter is in reference to the Aug. 17 edition of The Westland Eagle, regarding the Pike's peak development at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Farmington Road. The article incorrectly stated the number of units as 14.

Actually, 23 will be built. On several occasions during May, I spoke to Douglas Tredinnik, of the city planning department, regarding plans for this corner. Each time, he indicated that no plans had been submitted. We residents then heard rumors - which, incidentally, originated from city hall - that the planning commission and city council both worked with the developer on plans, and approval was forthcoming.

Again, this was denied by Tredinnik.

In approximately mid-June, officials from JBC Group distributed notices of a meeting for the purpose of advising the residents of the plans for development. She was emphatic that the development would be built and stated that she had a lot of support for the project.

During this meeting, her site engineer mentioned their meeting with city council. Little did we know the support the JBC officials had was from the planning commission and city council - and 28 residents who do not live within 300 feet of the project.

In my opinion, the planning commission and city council hearing regarding this project was a farce. It had been predetermined prior to these hearings that the project would be approved. After all, these two honorable bodies worked with the developer on the project.

I might add without input from area residents.

My other opinion is the arrogance displayed by City Council President Kenneth Mehl during the council meeting. It is surpassed only by that of an elected official from the city of Detroit.

Residents of Westland, beware. It could happen in your neighborhood. We have experienced the "Coleman Young syndrome" here in Westland.

Drain charges are too costly

Approximately $190,000 for two drains and paving seems incredible (in Canton Township). Surely, the county could throw in a couple of street lights along Canton Center Road, at Rector Drive, and Rogate Drive, between Palmer and Geddes roads.

The lights would be for that residential area and for those of us who must drive along that dark stretch five nights each week from work.

I am surprised there has not been a petition for this. We did not know the drains were needed, but we certainly know the lights should be there.

Canton officials need to adjust

It has been almost one month now since the primary election, and the dust is starting to settle.

somewhat. Even though I lost my bid for Canton Township trustee, I am as convinced as ever that the system which has brought us to this point in our national political evolution will continue to serve us well in the 21st century and beyond.

Our system allowed me to raise my voice in opposition to the proposed hiring of a superintendent, to speak for the full-time, elected supervisor who would be fully accountable to the people. Apparently, 57 percent of the voters agreed with me and defeated the superintendent issue.

However, I am somewhat confused as to why the voters would vote for a supervisor, two trustees and a clerk who are all pro-superintendent? I honestly feel there was much confusion about this issue, and much of it was created by many different factors. Otherwise, why would the voters turn out the only supervisor candidate who supported a full-time supervisor, Jim Poole?

Let's get on to the present and future. Canton voters have elected a man to the supervisor's office who has stated both publicly and privately that, if the superintendent's issue was defeated, it would be a clear indication that the voters wanted a full-time supervisor. (Thomas) Yack stated to me, that in that event, he would take a leave of absence and devote his efforts, as supervisor, on a full-time basis.

Now we are hearing a different story. Could it be that Yack was not fully aware of his options concerning his jobs as a teacher in the Wayne-Westland school district and the consequences of his possible election victory?

I would suggest to the new board that they allow Yack a period of time to come to grips with the reality of his newly acquired responsibility to his office and to the residents of Canton. After all, even former Speaker of the House Tip O'Neil allowed President Reagan a "honeymoon" period of 90 days.

High expectations

Coaches pick Robichaud, Belleville to be in the conference-title chase

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With high expectations and their annual dose of optimism, high school football coaches and teams in the area will launch the 1988 season Friday night.

And two teams, Robichaud and Belleville, will carry the onus of being tagged by some area coaches as "teams to beat" in their respective leagues.

One can understand the dubious honor for Robichaud, the perennial title contender in the Suburban Athletic Association and the defending co-champ (Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs share the crown with River Rouge), but why Belleville?

Belleville has been a doormat for years in the Wolverine 'A' Conference. The conference has been dominated by Dearborn Fordson and Monroe, two teams that have reached post-season Class A playoffs in the past.

Back to Yauck's Bulldogs.
A 6-3 team a year ago, Robichaud missed reaching the Class B playoffs after losing to Muskegon Heights and Willow Run in the stretch of the 1987 campaign. They also played defending Class C state champs, Birmingham Country Day, in the opener (and lost 29-20) which didn't help their playoff chances.

The Bulldogs then went on to put together five consecutive and impressive victories before the Flyers at Willow Run upset them 22-18 on a final second TD.

Robichaud rebounded and trounced their archrivals, Inkster, the following weekend 60-0 before losing to Muskegon.

With 13 starters - most blue chippers - back, SAC coaches don't hesitate to say "that if you want the title, you have to beat Robichaud this year."

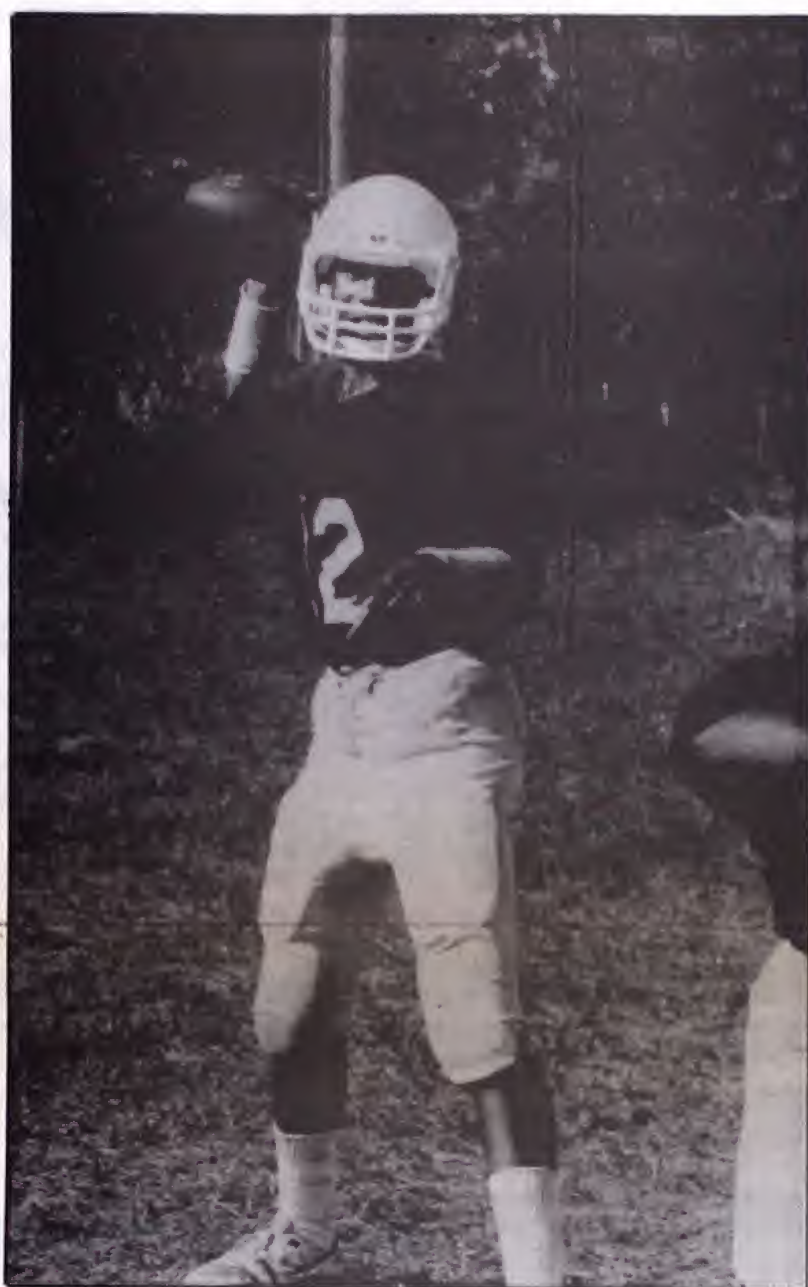

And Yauck, entering his 19th year as head coach, will not disagree with that assessment. But he also believes that Highland Park, the only Class A team in the 'B' dominated SAC, also has to be given title consideration due to "its sheer size and numbers."

Vikings are ready

If the Inkster Vikings are going to have a 'Cinderella' season, senior quarterback Earl Casey (at right) will have to get the offense moving this year. The Viking coaching staff, made up of Bill Morgan (photo below, from left), Walt Smith, head coach Alonzo Glaze and Steve Robinson, are fine-tuning their 1988 grid model which will be unveiled before the home crowd on Friday against the Flyers of Willow Run. The game is the Suburban Athletic Conference opener for both teams.

Vikings may surprise conference grid teams

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If there is a team that could surprise the powers to be in the Suburban Athletic Football Conference it could be Inkster High.

Coach Alonzo Glaze's Vikings have been overlooked by the SAC coaches who have selected defending co-champs Robichaud, River Rouge and always dangerous Highland Park as pre-season title favorites.

The Parkers are the only Class A club in the SAC which is basically made up of 'B' schools.

Inkster pulled off a couple of big upsets a year ago when the Vikings, under Coach Alonzo Glaze, stopped Detroit East Catholic in their opener (12-8) and also jolted a highly favored Oak Park after beating a sluggish Ecorse.

Glaze has some horses returning who may make a run for it in the SAC. Quarterback Earl Casey, a veteran quarterback and tough athlete is just one of the mainstays that the Vikings will be relying upon. Casey has a strong arm and can run.

In the 20 or so who reported for varsity duty,

Defense is where the game is either won or lost.

— Alonzo Glaze

Glaze also has a fast-moving ballcarrier in William Jones. Jones, a tailback, earned an All-Area berth a year ago. He also kept in shape by running the 220 and 440 in track. And Jones has to have a good year if the Vikings' surprises are to become realities.

Playing from the wishbone, Inkster has a flanker who also will be heard from. He's Eric Ivey, a 6-1, 185-pound junior who also owns some speed.

Ends Chris Gillispie, a 5-9, 170-pound split end, and Calvin Ellison, also an end, have limited experience.

There are others who the Vikings must get better-than-average efforts from if they are going to survive this year. Tackler John

Defending state champ invades New Boston

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

DePorres, the defending Class C state girls' basketball champ, will invade New Boston Thursday to take on highly touted Huron in the 1988 cage opener for both schools.

Game time is 6 p.m.

Huron, which is coming off of an enviable 23-2 won-lost record, will get an early opportunity to test its new lineup against the state powerhouse, according to Coach Bill Harrison.

"We have a lot of question marks," said Harrison as he prepares to begin his fourth season as head coach. "We lost a lot of key players and, although we have the ability to play decent ball, we don't know how some of the untested players will react under actual playing conditions."

Harrison does have a pair of players who have had national experience. Lauri Labeau, a 5-6 guard who earned All-Area, All-Conference and All-State recognition a year ago, is back and she could be the driving force behind another outstanding Huron year.

"She's a good one," said Harrison. "She's a sparkplug-type of player who can keep a team in the game."

Labeau played for the Michigan team at the Junior Olympics in Florida this summer.

The other player who has received national attention is freshman Janet Hughes, also a guard. The 5-6 cager played AAU basketball in Louisiana.

But Harrison has another starter from last

And this Huron team, although it has a lot of potential, is an untested team. We're going to have to wait and see.

— Bill Harrison
Huron cage coach year's conference and district championship club. She's Laurel Haener, a 5-10 center who will be the key to the Chiefs board strength this season.

Harrison is looking at 5-8 junior Julie Dobozy, 5-6 junior Laurie Gubbini and Jen Grecia, a 5-6, junior along with Janet Thomas, a 5-6 sophomore, and Jenny Thomas, a 6-1 junior, as possible starters.

Harrison sees the conference title race shaping up between at least three teams. Grosse Ile, St. Mary's of Monroe will be in the thick of it, along with his own team, Harrison said.

"But there have been several coaching changes within our league (Huron)," he added, "and whenever that happens there always surface some unknown factors such as new strategies."

"And, we have to remember that this (Huron) team is not a tested team, so I expect every game is going to be a tough one for us."

And it's never easy to start the season against a defending state champ, right coach?

Hall of Fame Coach Haney to be honored

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Don Haney, considered one of the finest high school wrestling coaches in the state of Michigan, will be installed into the Hall of Fame at Wayne Memorial during ceremonies Friday, Sept. 9 at Wayne High.

Haney's teams and wrestlers won state honors during the mid-1970s. He was named the "Coach of the Year" for Michigan by the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the highest award bestowed to a coach by the governing body of high school athletics in the state.

The installation ceremonies will take place during the halftime of the Wayne Memorial and Monroe High School football game.

"Don Haney exemplifies what coaching is all about," said William Hawley, athletic director. "He was a dedicated coach who cared for his athletes as athletes and as human beings."

"Many of his wrestlers went on to star for colleges and universities across the country."

Haney arrived on the local scene after earning All-America accolades competing for the University of Michigan. He is a former Big 10 Conference champ who also won a state title while in high school in Pennsylvania.

Under Haney's tutelage, Wayne captured the Class A state wrestling championship. For his coaching efforts, the MHSAA named Haney as its "Coach of the Year," a honor bestowed upon him several times during his productive years by the Associated Newspapers' Sports Staff.

Here we go again

What looks like another exciting high school football season will get under way on Friday as all local prep teams hit the gridiron in full force. With the exception of Inkster, which is scheduled to play at home against league rival, Willow Run, area coaches will test their new grid machines against non-conference adversaries. For the best in local high school sports coverage, pick up the Associated Newspapers at your local newsstands.

Chase

The Bulldogs will open up the season 4 p.m. Friday on the home turf against Saline, a non-conference opponent. Bob. Yauck admits he knows little about Saline.

"First games always are tough because of the unknown factors," he said. "Therefore, we have to make sure we don't make mistakes that they can capitalize on."

Robichaud has one of the finest runningbacks in the area in sophomore Tyrone Wheatley, who is a 6-1, 195 pound versatile athlete. Wheatley scored 14 TDs as a freshman and earned All-Area and All-Conference recognition. Yauck also admits that Tyrone is "a franchise in himself" because of his blazing speed and ability.

"However, it will take more than one player to win it this year," Yauck said.

And, of course, the Bulldogs have more than one player. They also have returning to their lineup Carl Brown, a 5-9, 170-pound senior who nosed out Wheatley for MVP honors. Brown can give the Bulldogs a 1-2 punch in the backfield that will K.O. any would-be rival that has designs on the Bulldog throne.

It also isn't difficult to see that if the line attempts to double team Wheatley or Brown, there is a senior quarterback, Eric Thomas, who can be devastating. Thomas, a 5-10, 165-pound senior runs as well as he passes.

There are other notables who Yauck will have available on offense: Gary Johnson, a 5-7, 165-pound senior returns to the slotback; Tim Parker, an All-Area performer a year ago, is at guard. He's 5-10, 185-pound and is considered by the Robichaud coaching staff as "the best offensive blocker on the team."

Robichaud will probably line up with Roderick James (6-3, 200-pound senior) and Wesley James (6-1, 200-pound senior) in the tackle slots. Carl Selman, a 6-1, 196-pound junior is at the other guard while Paul Brannon, a 6-1, 185-pound senior will play center. The tight end is Michael Aaron, a 6-4, 205-pound senior.

In the meantime, Coach Dave McCarney is preparing to field his third team at Belleville and there are high hopes that the Tigers will improve upon their 2-7 record of a year ago.

First games always are tough because of the unknown factors. Therefore, we have to make sure we don't make mistakes that they can capitalize on.

— Bob Yauck
Robichaud coach

But a title in 1988? That may be asking too much from McCarney and his staff who face the likes of a Fordson (which was undefeated in the conference in 1987) and with at least two other teams - Wayne Memorial and Lincoln Park looking good.

But with the return of tackle Brian Gulliver, a 6-6, 225-pound tackle that looks as if he is ready to play Big 10 ball right now, and conference sprint champ, Virgil Chandler, who is returning to the offensive backfield after missing his junior year because of an injury, Belleville does have the potential of developing into the Cinderella team this year.

The Tigers will also have one of the best punter-kickers in the area in Scott Janack whose recent attendance at the Wolverine Football Camp (organized by the University of Michigan grid staff) earned him the distinction of 'Best punter' at the camp.

Where Belleville can be suspect is in its secondary, which has been wiped out due to graduation and must be replaced completely.

But let's go back to some of the other Tiger notables whom you'll probably be reading about during the next nine weeks. Along with Gulliver, McCarney has Mike Harding, a 5-11, 205-pound senior guard, Dan Barlage, a 5-10, 175-pound senior center, and Jim Stamp, a 6-4, 220-pound senior tackle ready for duty on the line.

Teaming with Chandler in the backfield will be fullback Tom Percecs, a 5-10, 180-pound junior fullback, and at split end is Kevin Hunter, a 6-1, 165-pound senior.

Belleville also has some outstanding talent returning to the defensive corps. Led by Brian Hutchinson, a 6-0, 180-pound senior who is having a sterling preseason, the Tigers are solid at the ends with Ed Phillips (6-0, 205-pound senior), Brian Gondezy (6-0, 180-pound senior); Anthony Richendollar, a 5-10, 195-pound tackle, and linebacker Vince Sacco, 6-0, 195-pound junior.

Belleville has dropped Westland John Glenn in favor of Taylor Center for their opener.

The two will meet at Belleville 7:30 p.m. on Friday, and after that encounter McCarney and his staff will probably get a better idea just what they have. Or have not.

Fishing derby planned

Inkster youngsters should get out their fishing rods and bait and get ready for the annual Fishing Derby.

The derby, cosponsored by the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department and the Environmental Waste Control, will be conducted on Sept. 24 at the Recreation Complex swim pool, located at 2025 Middlebelt, just north of Michigan Ave.

Boys and girls, ages 5 to 14, who reside in the city of Inkster or attend one of the schools in the city are eligible to participate.

Prizes will be awarded to each "heat" winner and for the angler who hauls in the largest fish for the day.

Contestants must bring their own fishing equipment, however, derby officials stress that there will be no casting allowed and no artificial lures.

They also point out that "there will be no direct parental assistance."

If parents have any questions they should direct them to the Recreation Department by telephoning 728-7530. Officials also urge prospective participants to pick up and complete derby entry forms, especially the fishing time desired.

Vikings

Donald, a 6-1, 205-pound senior, will be in the thick of the battles in the pit and Vincent Totty, who earned a letter as a freshman a year ago, is returning at center. He's 5-9, 185-pounds. The Vikings have Curtis Jackson, a 6-0, 220-pound "strong-as-a-bull" gridder ready to go at tackle.

Defense, however, will be the Vikings' forte. They haven't forgotten the 60 points they gave up to Robichaud last year, "and, I believe, with the people we have back will be much stronger."

"Defense," Glaze reminds his players, "is where the game is won or lost."

Glaze and his coaching staff won't have an opportunity to test their 1988 machine against nonconference rivals before unveiling it in the SAC. Unfortunately, they are scheduled to meet Willow Run, a SAC rival, Friday afternoon at 4. Fortunately, they play on the home turf.

It was the Flyers who handed Inkster a season-ending loss a year ago.

The Vikings would like nothing better than to avenge that loss before the home crowd.

The jinx?

Can Eagles fly over home-turf problems?

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Jinx.

Can the Romulus Eagles beat the jinx of playing on the home field?

That's the question many Romulus High football fans are asking as Coach Norb Glover's gridders rev up to play Taylor Truman in the opening game of the 1988 season.

The Eagles have had problems winning at home. In fact, you can count on one hand the number of games Romulus has won before the home crowd.

And the 1988 Eagles have three straight home games - Truman (Sept. 2), Ann Arbor Pioneer (Sept. 9) and Adrian (Sept. 16) - before traveling to Temperance Bedford on Sept. 23. And only time will tell whether the 1988 Eagles add any credence to the legend.

Truman beat Romulus 31-6 a year ago then lost 65-0 decision to Pioneer which went on to claim the Class A state title. It wasn't until their fourth game,

Our defense should be much improved, and if we can get on the scoreboard, we'll be all right. Defense, however, will be our forte this year.

— Norb Glover
Romulus coach

against Temperance Bedford, that Romulus broke into the winning column.

This year isn't going to be any easier for Glover and the Eagles, who have been officially accepted into the South Central Conference. (Because of a scheduling oversight, Romulus wasn't admitted into the SAC football league last year, therefore, played as an independent).

Oh, by the way, the Eagles don't play their home games at the high school, instead they have opted to host their games at the junior high.

After a 2-7 season in '87, the Eagles should climb up a couple of notches. But it will depend a lot on how quickly the players mature as a team.

There are a few players who have been around the gridiron that Glover can rely upon. Among the leaders include Ali Campbell, a 6-0, 210-pound fullback who can be tough. If Campbell can pick up the short yardage so that quarterback Jamie Williams can feel confident of using his arm, you'll see more than the nine TDs the Eagles scored last year.

With Pioneer preparing to defend its state title and Ypsilanti also filled with a lot of veteran strength, there isn't going to be much room at the top for the likes of Romulus. If the Eagles can finish in the middle of the pack this year, then they can concentrate about moving up a year from now.

But, right now, players like Paul Nowicki, the 6-5, 255-pound senior who was runner-up in the state as a heavyweight wrestler a year ago, and Randy Champagne, an All-Area performer at linebacker, must provide the physical and mental leadership to keep the Eagles alive.

There are others who look promising. Seniors Joe Householder, 5-10, 220-pound, and co-captain Ralph Farrell, 5-9, 180-pound are among those who can make this a winning season for the Eagles.

The Eagles look set in the defensive secondary where Michael Maul (6-0, 180), Malcolm Rachal (6-1, 210) and Tim Kosikowsky (5-11, 175) are raring to go.

Glover feels that if the team can play "a more controlled ball brand of game" and "get the passing going", "we will have a decent season.

But it's going to be a long one if the injuries pile up.

"That's the one thing - injuries - we have to try to avoid," Glover said. "But in a game that's so physical, it's difficult to do."

Pick Pioneer to repeat. And Romulus?

Look for them to improve their 2-7 record. But not by much.

On the loose

If Romulus is to break out of their football doldrums and post a winning record of the first time in this decade, the Eagles will have to get their offense going. And one of the main links in that machine is Arol Trinity (above), a rugged 5-8, 185-pound senior halfback who was an All-Area selection a year ago. Romulus also must overcome a home field jinx. They play their first three contests at home.

A dream season

Emerging from the 1988 fast-pitch softball campaign with a sterling 42-7 record which included first place trophies at the Ann Arbor and L'anse Creuse invitational, Sportsbench/Griffin Sports also competed in the national championships staged recently in Georgia. Members of the outstanding team included: Lynda Weichel (kneeling, from left), Andrea Young, Angie Slawinski, Jennifer Daniel, Carrie Wellman, Nicole Wolfe, and Sarah Mason; second row are Coach Fred Coleman, Michele Scarrow, Kim Hoppes, Brenda Gatemán, Stacie Bogataj, Chris Warren, Michelle Ferguson, Amy DeVoe, Coach Lisa Schillenger. Huron would like history to repeat

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Coach Tom Labeau and his New Boston Huron Chiefs would like history to repeat.

On Friday, when the Chiefs take on nonconference adversary, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Labeau would like to start the season in the winning column. The Chiefs have managed, though it has been rough at times, to win their openers.

Last year Huron won a 6-3 thriller at the expense of the Cougars.

"We have always had good, solid-hitting games with them (Annapolis)," Labeau said. "The margin of victory has been less than one TD."

Labeau expects another cliffhanger, "just because that's been the tradition."

Huron will host the Dearborn Heights gridders, with kickoff scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 2.

In the way of size and experience, Labeau doesn't have much. In fact, the Chiefs will be fielding less than 25 players on the varsity. However, 11 of those players have earned varsity letters previously.

Huron will need all the help it can get to keep its head above waters. The one conference game the Chiefs won a year ago was against Flat Rock, and that was an 8-3 victory. Except for the Grosse Ile (19-14) and Riverview (3-0), contests the Chiefs were not in any of the other six games.

Holdovers from last year's campaign include four-year-starter and All-Area candidate Tom Walters who is a 6-0, 214-

Every game is going to be tough for us. This is an untested club.

— Tom Labeau

pound senior tackle that will go both ways. The Chiefs can fill those tackle spots with at least four other 200-pound plus players including Mike Campeau (5-11, 204), Mike Barbour (6-0, 214), LeRoy Wright (6-0, 253) and Lonnie Walker (5-11, 224).

Huron should be able to hold its own on defense, but the offense is where all of the repair work must be accomplished. Twins Paul and Pete Hill are slated to see action in the backfield: Paul will handle the quarterback chores and Pete (6-0, 200) is slated to be the fullback. The Chiefs also have a solid runner in halfback Matt Laurain.

Others who are working out in the backfield include Matt Hamilton and Scott Loury.

Riverview, a team that the Chiefs had on the ropes last year but couldn't apply the knockout punch, appears to be the team that most coaches feel could unseat Monroe Jefferson as the next champ.

Then there are Grosse Ile and Monroe St. Mary's who are standing in line to win titles, leaving the Chiefs groping somewhere in the middle of the pack. If they can finish there, Labeau would be satisfied.

But it's going to be tough holding on.

We know how to play the game. Join us.

H & R Block to Offer Tax School In Belleville Area

Thousands of people are learning the skill of income tax preparation from H & R Block and are earning money as income tax preparers.

H & R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting September 7th, 8th and 10th, with morning, afternoon, evening and Saturday classes available. Classes will be offered at many convenient area locations.

During the 13 week course, students will study all phases of income tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block instructors will teach current laws, theory and application, as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is a classroom discussion on each tax subject and practice problems at every level. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both interesting and challenging.

Courses are ideally suited for people who want to increase their tax knowledge and learn how to save money on taxes or who are looking for a rewarding career. No prerequisites are required to enroll.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H & R Block.

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for the completion of the course. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course. Master, Visa, and Discover cards are accepted, or a time payment plan is available.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting H & R Block office at:

BRUCE CAMPBELL DODGE

(Formerly West Star Dodge)

The 1988 Sterling 825SL, flagship of this British line.

A power moonroof, for more moonlight. Or more sunlight.

Connolly leather, as used in the House of Lords.

An eight-speaker stereo,
next to live, the best way to hear the London
Philharmonic.

Burled walnut inlays, matched by eye and fitted by hand.

Infra-red remote control door locks for convenience at a distance.

A Formula-One
inspired 24-valve
V6 engine loosens
the stiff upper lip.

Self-leveling suspension evens out uneven loads even on uneven roads.

Bosch Anti-lock
Braking* helps predict and prevent sudden wheel lock-up.

An alarm security system second only to the Tower of London.

Variable-assist power steering combines easy parking with solid road feel at high speed.

Of all the reasons
to consider the Sterling, perhaps this is the most convincing:

From $299*
